What's new:

Father's Day

Don't forget Father's Day is Sunday.

Holiday publication

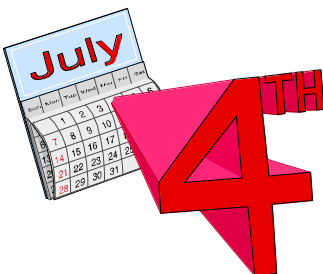

The first Community News issue in July is scheduled for publication on July 1, not July 2.

This single Thursday publication date will not affect the June 23 deadline, but it will allow distribution before the holiday weekend.

Upcoming holiday

In observance of Independence Day, July 5 is a federal holiday, and government offices will be closed.

July 2 is a scheduled training military holiday at the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center, Presidio of Monterey.

Postwide yard sale scheduled for June 26 at Presidio Annex

The next postwide yard sale is scheduled for June 26, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Presidio of Monterey Annex.

The last registration is scheduled for Wednesday, 6-7:30 p.m.

Registration will take place at the Mayoral Program office in the Stilwell Community Center, 4260 Gigling Road, POM Annex.

Fees are $5 for active duty and family members residing on the Presidio of Monterey or its Annex, and $10 for all others including active duty members residing off post, retirees and the general public. The 186 spaces are available on a first come, first served basis. The program staff will conduct registration only on the date and times listed and will not conduct registrations over the phone.

The sale will take place off 8th Avenue and Joe Lloyd Way, across from the Self Help and Lawn Care office. To reach the yard sale, after entering the main gate on the POM Annex, proceed straight to North-South Road and turn right. Take North-South Road to Gigling Road and turn left. Proceed on Gigling Road to 8th Avenue and turn left. Continue on 8th Avenue to the first right, Joe Lloyd Way.

Bugle calls of Reveille, Retreat, and Taps echo throughout the Presidio

We have recently instituted a system so that the soldiers, sailors, airmen, and Marines of the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center can hear our bugle calls throughout the post. The bugle calls of Reveille, Retreat, and Taps have long been part of our military history. Reveille and Retreat are sounded when our National Colors are raised and lowered. Special courtesies to our flag are required during those times. I hope that this article will inform you as to the history of these calls and give you the instruction you need to render the proper courtesies to our flag, the flag of our great country; the United States of America.

Thanks for listening.

THE HISTORY OF REVEILLE: Reveille was not originally intended as honors to the flag. In 1812, it was a drum call to signify that soldiers should rise for the duty day and sentries should leave off night challenging. As time passed, reveille came to denote when the flag was raised in the morning and honors paid to it.

The custom of waking soldiers to a bugle call dates back to the Roman Legions when the rank and file were raised by horns playing 'Dianais Hymn'. To date the French term for Reveille is 'La Diana'. When bugle calls were officially introduced into the British system by George III a special call was written by Joseph Hayden. This was Reveille, meaning to wake again, from the old French. http://www2.mountains.net.au/bmvets/milit_traditions/all_traditions.htm#reveille

THE HISTORY OF RETREAT: The term RETREAT is taken from the French word "Retraite" and refers to the evening ceremony. The bugle call sounded at retreat was first used in the French army and dates back to the Crusades. Retreat was sounded at sunset to notify sentries to start challenging until sunrise, and to tell the rank and file to go to their quarters. The old cavalry call "To the Standard," in use from about 1835, has been replaced by the present call "To the Color." This remains as music honoring the flag as it is lowered in the evening. Taken from FM 22-5, Drill and Ceremonies, Dec 86.

THE HISTORY OF TAPS: The 24-note melancholy bugle call known as "taps" is thought to be a revision of a French bugle signal, called "tattoo," that notified soldiers to cease an evening's drinking and return to their garrisons. It was sounded an hour before the final bugle call to end the day by extinguishing fires and lights. The last five measures of the tattoo resemble taps. The word "taps" is an alteration of the obsolete word "taptoo," derived from the Dutch "taptoe." Taptoe was the command - "Tap toe!" - to shut ("toe to") the "tap" of a keg.

The revision that gave us present-day taps was made during America's Civil War by Union Gen. Daniel Adams Butterfield, heading a brigade camped at Harrison Landing, Va., near Richmond. Up to that time, the U.S. Army's infantry call to end the day was the French final call, "L'Extinction des feux." Gen. Butterfield decided the "lights out" music was too formal to signal the day's end. One day in July, 1862, he recalled the tattoo music and hummed a version of it to an aide, who wrote it down in music. Butterfield then asked the brigade bugler, Oliver W. Norton, to play the notes and, after listening, lengthened and shortened them while keeping his original melody. He ordered Norton to play this new call at the end of each day thereafter, instead of the regulation call. The music was heard and appreciated by other brigades, who asked for copies and adopted this bugle call. It was even adopted by Confederate buglers.

COURTESIES to the FLAG

Speakers have been placed on DLIFLC so that the bugle calls can be heard over a much larger area. This is a quick explanation of the calls and what courtesies should be rendered. The three bugle calls are Reveille, Retreat, and Taps.

REVEILLE - 7 a.m. every day, played when the flag is raised

RETREAT - 5 p.m. every day, played when the flag is lowered

NOTE: RETREAT consists of two calls one after the other, called RETREAT and TO THE COLOR

TAPS - 10 p.m. every day, Requires no special action.

MILITARY PERSONNEL in UNIFORM and in FORMATION

REVEILLE - On the command of the Officer in Charge or Non-Commission Officer in Charge of the formation will execute "attention," if not already at attention, "present arms" and "order arms." Attention and present arms should be given as soon as the music is heard, and order arms after the last note has played.

RETREAT - Upon hearing RETREAT, the formation will execute "parade rest" at the command of the OIC or NCOIC. On the first note of TO THE COLOR the OIC or NCOIC will command "attention" and "present arms." The OIC or NCOIC will command "order arms" when TO THE COLOR has finished.

MILITARY PERSONNEL in UNIFORM but NOT in formation

REVEILLE - At the first note of music, face the flag (or music if flag not visible) stand at attention and render the hand salute. End salute on the last note of music.

RETREAT - Upon hearing RETREAT, face the flag (or music if flag not visible) and stand at attention. Hold that position until the last note of RETREAT is played. At the first note of TO THE COLOR, render the hand salute. Salute until the music is over. Drop the hand salute.

MILITARY PERSONNEL in a VEHICLE during REVEILLE and RETREAT (Army)

Vehicles in motion will be brought to a halt. The driver and passengers riding in a passenger car or on a motorcycle will dismount and take appropriate action. Occupants of other types of military vehicles and buses remain seated at attention in the vehicle, the individual in charge of each vehicle dismounts and renders a hand salute. Tank and armored personnel carrier commanders salute from the vehicle.

NOTE: For civilians and military personnel in civilian clothes, males are required to remove any headgear or hat they are wearing. Females do not remove their headgear or hat.

BOTH CIVILIAN AND MILITARY in CIVILIAN CLOTHES, including SPORTS CLOTHES, with HEADGEAR OR HAT.

REVEILLE - At the first note of music, face the flag (or music if flag not visible) and stand at attention. Remove headgear with the right hand, and hold it over the left shoulder as you place your right hand over your heart. Remain in that position until the last note is played.

RETREAT - Upon hearing RETREAT, face the flag (or music if flag not visible). Remove your headgear and stand at attention. Remain at attention until the last note of RETREAT is played. On the first note of TO THE COLOR, hold the hat over the left shoulder as you place your right hand over your heart. Remain in that position until the last note is played.

CIVILIAN AND MILITARY in CIVILIAN CLOTHES, including SPORTS CLOTHES, WITHOUT HEADGEAR OR HAT

REVEILLE - At the first note of music, face the flag (or music if flag not visible) and stand at attention. Place your right hand over your heart. Remain in that position until the last note is played.

RETREAT - Upon hearing RETREAT, face the flag (or music if flag not visible). Remain at attention until the last note of RETREAT is played. On the first note of TO THE COLOR, place your right hand over your heart. Remain in that position until the last note is played.

Change management class scheduled for Tuesday

A change management class will meet Tuesday, 6:30-8:30 p.m., at the Chapel Center, Presidio of Monterey Annex. Members of the military community are often faced with a number of organizational and personal changes. A variety of techniques will be discussed so participants can construct their own change management strategy.

The class is free; on-site child care is provided. Call 242-7660 or 242-7653 to register.

Anger management class set for Thursday

An anger management class is scheduled for Thursday, 4:30-6 p.m. at Aiso Library, Presidio of Monterey. Sponsored by the Naval Postgraduate School Family Service Center, this class will help individuals control and better manage their anger. To register, call 656-3488.

Test drives benefit youth sports June 25-26

Individuals will have the opportunity to support Presidio of Monterey Youth Sports programs by test driving a 2000 Neon June 25 in the parking lot of the POM Main Exchange or June 26 in the parking lot of the Troop Store, 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

For every test drive taken, Dodge and Plymouth will make a donation to support the POM Youth Sports, and each person test-driving will be given a $5 gift certificate good at any AAFES outlet.

For more information, call Porter Youth Center at 242-7823.

Smoking cessation classes starting June 28

The next smoking cessation classes are scheduled for June 28 at 3:30 p.m. and, July 1, 8, 12 at 4 p.m. in Building 276 on Plummer Street.

Active duty military must attend all four classes in order to receive the Nicotine replacement patch.

Civilian employees and spouses may also attend; however, this is on a space available basis and civilians unfortunately will not be eligible to receive the nicotine replacement patch.

To reserve a spot in the class, please call Lorna Fisher at 242-6962.

Vehicle dispatch begins on the Presidio June 28

In order to increase efficiency and better serve the customers, the Directorate of Logistics Transport Branch, commonly called the Transportation Motor Pool, will start dispatch operations on the Presidio of Monterey starting June 28. Location is 639 Mason Street, a trailer diagonal to parking lot of building 630. Hours are 10 a.m.-noon and 12:45-3 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The area is closed Fridays.

Activities and units assigned to the Presidio of Monterey Annex will continue to dispatch at the Annex. The new operating hours for vehicle inspections are:

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday
7-9 a.m.	1:30-430 p.m.	7-9 a.m.
Thursday	Friday
9a.m.-noon	7-9 a.m.

Dispatch hours remain the same: 6 a.m.-4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, excluding holidays and Saturday 7a.m.-noon only at the Annex. Next week the DOL Transport Branch will provide a vehicle dispatch schedule to each unit or activity.

To prevent any delays, the operator is reminded to meet the scheduled date and time or risk rescheduling for another date. If unable to make the set date, call 647-8531 at least 48 hours in advance. Scheduling of maintenance services will continue to be done at the Annex. Inspection procedures remain the same.

Point of contact is either Charles Standfield or James Lee at 242-7786 or 242-7791. For the contracting officer's representative, contact Albert Caminos at 242-7784.

Optimistic thinking class for children slated June 29

A class and support group for children ages 6 to 11 on how to think more optimistically and gain greater self-confidence is scheduled for eight consecutive Tuesdays, beginning June 29, 2:45-4 p.m. at the Naval Postgraduate School Family Service Center, Building 2.

The class will also benefit children who are planning to or have moved recently. The program will focus on building self-esteem and confidence in children. To register, call 656-3488.

Retiree Appreciation Day set for July 10

Retiree Appreciation Day is scheduled for July 10, 8 a.m.-2 p.m., at the General Stilwell Community Center at the Presidio of Monterey Annex.

Sponsored by The Fort Ord Area Retiree Council, the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center and the Presidio of Monterey, the event will include important information for military retirees, widows and pre-retirees.

For more information or directions, call Judith Costello at 242-6691 or Army Retirement Services at 1-800-213-4354.

Newcomers Orientation scheduled for July 21

Army Community Services and the Presidio chaplains invites all new arrivals to the community for a Newcomers Orientation on Wednesday, July 21, from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. at the General Stilwell Community Center on the POM Annex. There will be a representative from agencies such as Child Development Services, TRICARE, Outdoor Recreation, Youth Services, the Red Cross, La Mesa housing, the Presidio of Monterey Police, the Education Center, Chamberlain Library, Army Emergency Relief, and the Post Exchange. Lunch is provided, as well as a bus tour of Monterey Peninsula.

Child care is available, and is free to those who are registered. To reserve a space on the bus, call ACS at 242-7660/7661. To arrange for child care, call Child Development Services at 583-1059 by July 16.

Sexual harassment hotline

The Air Force's senior leaders want military and civilian employees to remain aware of the service's sexual harassment hotline, reminding those associated with the Air Force the hotline is still open.

The hotline, set up to receive sexual harassment and other forms of discrimination inquiries nearly four years ago, is operated by the Air Force Personnel Center. The numbers are Toll Free 1-800-558-1404; DSN 665-2949; or commercial (210) 565-2949.

AFPC Call Center representatives initially take all hotline calls. Callers with a sexual harassment or discrimination concern are forwarded to a qualified social actions counselor. Counselors ensure callers understand what avenues are available and also ensure complaints are channeled to the proper authority. Counselors are standing by to take calls during normal duty hours from 7:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., CDT.

After normal duty hours, voice mail is available for callers to leave messages. Counselors return after-hours phone calls at the beginning of the following duty day. For emergencies or when an immediate response is desired, counselors are available 24 hours a day. The call center voice mail will instruct callers how to reach an after-hours counselor. Deliveries available to Presidio

Anthony's Pizza and Robin Hood Sandwiches at the Army and Air Force Exchange Service shopping center offer home delivery to Presidio of Monterey 6-10 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, call 647-9605.

Uniforms in Internet catalog

Shopping for military uniforms can be as easy as browsing the Internet. Catalogs from the Army and Air Force Exchange Service are available worldwide for authorized customers, instantly, at <http://www.aafes.com>. The Internet catalog provides shopping convenience regardless of the customer's location.

Additionally, Air Force military clothing catalogs have a variety of optional uniform items and accessories from which to choose. Though identical in product selection, the electronic catalogs do not replace the paper versions, still available in clothing sales stores or by calling 1-888-768-3204.

Power outages: Where to get help

Who do you call when the power goes out?

The answer varies, depending on the military housing area and on the time of day the power goes out.

Presidio of Monterey Residents

Call the Trouble Desk at 242-7664 if you have a gas or electric power problem during a standard work day, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Call the Staff Duty Desk at 242- 5119 if you experience power problems before 7:30 a.m., after 5 p.m., or on weekends or holidays. Residents on the POM do not have individual gas or electric meters, so the Housing Office or the Staff Duty Officer will contact PG&E directly, providing the necessary account information for PG&E to make repairs.

POM Annex Residents

Residents of the Annex all have individual gas and electric meters, which are billed directly to the Army. If you experience electric or gas problems call PG&E directly at 1-800-743-5000, 24 hours a day. When placing this call, please be sure to have your meter number and address available, as PG&E will request the information of you.

La Mesa Housing or NPS Main Station Residents

Call the Navy Housing Office at 656-3308 if you have a gas or electric power problem during a standard work day, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. After standard work hours, or during weekends or holidays, call the Quarterdeck at 656-2441. Residents of La Mesa do not have individual gas or electric meters, so the Housing Office or the Officer of the Day at the Quarterdeck will contact PG&E directly and provide the necessary account information for PG&E to make repairs.

Retiree Home Page has new look, address

Your online source of information on military retirement benefits has a new look and a new address. You can find the Army Retirement Services home page at <http://www.odcsper.army.mil/retire/retire1.asp> (Note: That's the number one after the second retire.) When you get to the new address, you'll find the information you need boxed in categories such as pre-retirement information, retiree information, Uniformed Services Former Spouse Protection Act and Survivor Benefit Plan. In addition to guides and handbooks, you'll find Frequently Asked Questions for each of these categories. Of course, the home page still has Army Echoes, the bulletin for retired soldiers and those getting ready to retire, as well as a listing of installation Army Retirement Services Offices and information on the Army Chief of Staff's Retiree Council.

No matter what your military service, if you're retired, getting ready to retire or just looking to the future, a visit to this home page with your family will be very beneficial.

Army needs more linguists

WASHINGTON — The Army is short linguists and the Recruiting Command has taken on the mission of enlisting language-qualified applicants.

The Army is especially short Chinese-Mandarin, Korean and Arabic linguists, according to Lt. Col. Perry Hargrove. He is the branch chief for enlisted soldiers in Military Intelligence at the U.S. Total Army Personnel Command in Alexandria, Va.

“Our problem is not only getting recruits through the school but also in keeping them in the Army,” Hargrove said. Recruits study the above languages for 63 weeks at the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center at the Presidio of Monterey, Calif.

Hargrove added the Army is short skill level 1 linguists, which in turn is creating a shortage of NCOs in the field. “We just don’t have the enlisted people to move up the ranks,” he said.

To try to offset the linguist shortage, Sgt. 1st Class Gregory Parmele, professional development Noncommissioned officer at PERSCOM, said language advocates are placed with the recruiting command, not with a numbered goal to enlist people, but to generate leads for recruiters. They are also targeting ethnic enclaves for foreign-language speakers.

“Most of the time they (ethnic youths) don’t know they can get a bonus for having a foreign language, or that even the language they speak is important to the Army,” Parmele said.

The recruiting command has received six MI language qualified NCOs to serve as language advocates, with a primary function of augmenting the recruitment of language-qualified applicants for both active-duty and Reserve service, Sgt. 1st Class Frank Marois, program NCOIC, said.

“The language advocacy program is in its infancy,” Marois said. “Lead generation is our mission, and we have been getting feedback from the field that our leads are generating contracts. We must penetrate new markets and enhance recruiting in current markets.”

He said the language advocates have a series of innovative and time-tested methods to help with their goal, such as a national target language advertising campaign, including an advertisement in Novoe Russkoe Slova, a national Russian newspaper. The language advocates are penetrating native enclaves through community outreach groups also, Marois said, and have been at high schools, colleges and within local communities nationwide giving presentations that center on advantages of an Army enlistment as a way to get an education, to bring adventure into lives and to acquire a marketable skill.

The two language advocates with the 1st Recruiting Brigade, headquartered at Fort Meade, Md., are Staff Sgts. Joe Phillips and Randy Gossert. A large map of the brigade area hangs in their work area with different colored pins identifying geographic areas of large Korean, Chinese, Russian and Arabic populations.

Within the 1st Brigade, Gossert and Phillips concentrate their efforts in ethnic enclaves in New York City, Baltimore, Washington, D.C., Boston, and other areas that have been identified as major markets of opportunity.

Recently, Phillips (a Russian/Polish linguist and voice interceptor) and Gossert (a Korean linguist and interrogator) discussed Army opportunities with Barry Burch’s consumer education class at Walkersville High School, Frederick, Md. Staff Sgt. Stan Fogg, Frederick Recruiting Station, requested the linguists’ support to address 22 high school seniors as part of the Total Army Involvement in Recruiting program (a secondary mission of the program). Gossert and Phillips provided insight into their Army experiences and the benefit of military service.

Gossert tells his audience that more than 20 foreign languages are taught at the Defense Language Institute, in Monterey, Calif., an accredited institution. Soldiers earn 45 semester hours’ credit for completing a course of study at DLI and Monterey Peninsula College allows soldiers to combine this and credit for basic training with 12 hours of study at that college to earn an associate degree in less than 18 months.

Another selling point to the program is in the travel and adventure the Army offers to applicants. “I have translated for foreign dignitaries including the chief of staff for the Polish army,” said Phillips. “I believe this has been much more exciting than the maintenance work I did back in Detroit, Mich.”

Soldier linguists are stationed around the world and throughout the United States. Phillips tells students that he has had the pleasure of traveling to 13 countries in Europe with his Army skills.

Army linguists receive high-tech training, up to a $12,000 enlistment bonus, opportunities for post-graduate study, travel and adventure. Both Phillips and Gossert make a point of stressing that their foreign language training, coupled with a security clearance, will make them highly marketable to federal agencies, law enforcement and international businesses, diplomatic positions, humanitarian organizations and educational institutions when they decide to leave military service.

“If I can assist with bringing someone into the Army that could not otherwise be persuaded, or that the recruiter could not sell, then I believe I will have achieved success,” Gossert said.

WRIGHT-PATTERSON AIR FORCE BASE, Ohio — Warm weather has returned, and people are spending more time outdoors. Although many believe that tanning enhances beauty, it can be harmful.

You may even have noticed a new mole or two, while trying on summer clothes or swimsuits. Whether the moles were new or simply previously undetected, people tend to pay more attention to their skin as summer approaches.

Melanoma is the deadliest form of skin cancer. Over the past several years there has been a dramatic rise in the number of people diagnosed with melanoma. The number of new cases of melanoma diagnosed each year is increasing faster than for any other form of cancer in the United States.

In 1998 an estimated 41,600 new cases were diagnosed. An estimated 7,300 people died from melanoma in this country last year.

One patient was only 39 years old when diagnosed. He noticed that a long-present mole had become raised and bled on occasion. He brought it to the attention of his doctor a few weeks later and underwent surgery to remove what proved to be melanoma that same week. His disease spread to his brain approximately two years later. He has undergone several unpleasant treatment regimens at various clinics around the country and is currently in remission.

Yet, he is relatively lucky. Most people do not respond well to chemotherapy once the disease has spread to internal organs. Most will die from their disease. But if caught early, melanoma is usually treatable.

Early diagnosis is critical. If you detect melanoma early enough, your chance of surviving approaches 100 percent. If allowed to spread before diagnosis, the cure rate is nearly zero.

You can examine your skin by looking for moles that display any of the following characteristics:

— Asymmetry: one half doesn't look like the other half.

— Border irregularity: instead of a nice smooth border, its border resembles a map.

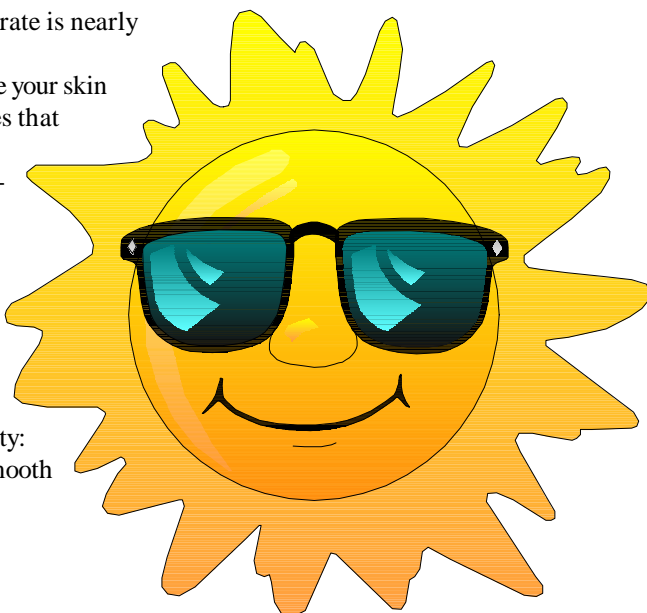

— Extreme color variation: instead of an even tan-brown color there are various shades of brown, black or sometimes even white, red or blue.

— A diameter larger than 6 mm: about the size of a pencil eraser.

You also want to look for any previously unnoticed moles, so you can track them in the future.

Take inventory of your skin. Using a wall mirror, examine the front of your body and as much of your back as possible. Open your mouth wide and check for dark spots you may not have noticed before. Look at your outer arms and then raise your hands over your head to see under your arms. Look at your palms. Look at your legs front and back, between your toes and at the soles of your feet. Using the wall and hand mirrors together, examine your scalp. Move your hair about and really take a close look. Take note of the back of your neck. Finally check your private parts and buttocks.

This may seem awkward, or even embarrassing, but you live with your skin every day and will notice subtle changes better than anyone. If you find anything unusual appearing or about which you have a question, see your doctor. "Maybe it will go away," is a dangerous combination of words, especially where melanoma is concerned.

Perform such self-examination once every two to three months.

In addition, it's a good idea to examine younger children periodically until they can be taught to perform this task themselves. Although melanoma is rare among children, it does exist. Also, don't forget to help older relatives who may not have the eyesight or dexterity to examine themselves. It might be uncomfortable, but you may save a life.

Sunburns occurring in the pre-teen years, more than any other factor, increase the chance of developing a melanoma over a lifetime. Bursts of sunlight, especially leading to sunburn, in adult life also contribute to developing the disease. Protect yourself. Wear adequate sunscreen to prevent yourself and your kids from turning red. Although early detection helps, the ultimate cure for melanoma is prevention. Natural Science courses offered

By Land: Explore your terra firma and satisfy MPC's degree requirement for taking a natural science course with lab by enrolling for Introductory Geology, GEOL 2. Topics include volcanoes, folded mountains, earthquake faults, rocks, minerals, fossils, map reading, land slides, weathering, erosion, groundwater and plate tectonics. The course runs June 14 to July 30.

By Sea: Sail on Monterey Bay this summer and get college credit for it by enrolling in Nautical Science Basic Sailing, NSCI 5, or Racing, NSCI 7. Students will learn about sailing under ocean conditions, departing and returning to dock, operating an outboard motor and maneuvering the boat under sail and power. Students who already know the basics, can get into the fast lane and take Racing.

By Air: Take off by getting Introduction to Aviation, AVIA 96.1, this summer followed by the Private Pilot Ground School, AVIA 101, offered in the fall.

Army Officer Candidate School

Military Personnel Services, Building 614, will accept applications until July 16 for the next Officer

Candidate School selection board scheduled for September. Interested applicants should check with their PAC supervisor for assistance, inquiries and to pick up application packets. A local interview board is tentatively scheduled for July 28.

Certification Testing

In addition to CLEP exams for college credit, another significant testing program available to service members is certification exams in fields of automotive, computer, food Service, surgical technologist and fiber optics installation. Certification offers service members the opportunity to document their skills, knowledge, and abilities in conjunction with their military occupational specialties.

Funded exams are listed in the DANTES Calendar of National Certification Tests on a onetime basis. Stop by the POM Education Center or access the information at: voted.doded.mil/dantes/cert/index.htm.

Military Education Info Hotline

The phone number 1-900-482-4533 is a fully automated hotline to the following eight areas of information: testing, tuition assistance, veteran's educational benefits, distance learning, Serviceman's Opportunity College, military service school evaluations, functional academic skills programs, and voluntary education options for family members and government civilians. Calls must be made from a touch-tone phone. Fax requests are also accepted.

Officer Correspondence Courses

Combined Arms and Services Staff School and the Command and General Staff Course applications and catalogs for these and other officer correspondence courses are available at the Education Center.

Call or stop by for more information on these courses.

Applying Language Knowledge to Baccalaureate Degree

Are you a noncommissioned officer who has studied two languages at the Defense Language Institute? If so, you have accumulated valuable credit toward a baccalaureate degree. Your Education Center can do an unofficial assessment of your experiences toward a bachelor's degree. You may be pleasantly surprised just how close you are to degree completion.

Credit for Military Experience

An AARTS transcript will document army course completions, military work experience, and military test scores for any soldier entering the regular Army after 1 Oct 81. See the POM Education Center about converting your work experience into college credit.

Troops to Teachers

Browse through information on 15,620 school districts listed on the Defense Department's "Troops to Teachers" software program available at the Education Center. Also ask for our brochure outlining decisions and steps one needs to take to become a teacher. It includes a listing of core courses common to most teacher preparation programs and an independent study source for these courses.

Explanation of classified ad policy

The following information is provided to explain and clarify policy for individuals who would like to publish classified ads in POM-Mart.

Military members, retirees and Department of Defense civilian employees with valid identification cards are authorized to place classified ads in the Community News.

To place an ad in the Community News, complete the form on the back page of the Community News and deliver it to the Public Affairs Office, Building 614, Room 142, Presidio of Monterey, 93944. Ads may also be sent via e-mail to the editor at wright@pom-emh1.army.mil. Individuals should be sure to include all information requested on the form, including the category of the ad.

Daytime work telephone numbers are for use by Community News staff only; they will not be listed in ads. Individuals may place up to three ads in different categories per issue. Each ad should not exceed 35 words; itemized property for sale should be valued at least $10.

The Community News staff will make every effort to publish ads accurately, but we reserve the right to edit ads to meet readability, format and space requirements. Report typographical errors to the editor, and they will be corrected in the next available issue.

Acceptable classified ads include items in the categories of Autos; Motorcycles; Trucks, Vans, Sport, RVs; Wanted; Sports Equipment; Entertainment, Music Items; Computers and Accessories; Lost and Found; Miscellaneous; Pets or Household Items. Items must be for one-time sale or for free – not for a profit-sharing venture of multiple items. The Community News does not take responsibility for items advertised.

Classified ads for businesses, rentals, free information, help for hire or tutoring, or illegal items are not authorized. Each ad will be published in three consecutive issues unless it is renewed or cancelled.

The date the ad was first published is printed in parentheses following each ad. For example, ads dated (06-04) will continue to run through the July 1 issue. Classified ads may be renewed or cancelled by phone; however, new ads, additions or major changes to ads must be done in writing before the Wednesday deadline for the next issue. Deadlines are generally a week and a half prior to the next publication. When calling in reference to an ad, be sure to identify the category, first few words of the ad, phone number as printed and the date following the ad.

Deadline for the July 1 issue is Wednesday; deadline for the July 16 issue is July 7.

Please refer questions concerning this policy to the editor of the Community News at the Public Affairs Office, at 242-5104 or 242-6426.
